

WALLACE CIRCUS TRAINS WRECKED IN MICHIGAN TWENTY-TWO KILLED

Show Billed To Appear in Newark on August 20th.

Sections Came Together With Awful Results This Morning

Engineer of Second Section Unable to Stop Because the Airbrakes Refuse to Work—Over a Score Killed—Surgeons Hurried to the Scene.

Detroit, Aug. 7.—(Bulletin)—In addition to the deaths already recorded, 22 in number, the injured number 70, as a result of this morning's Wallace circus train wreck. The engine of the rear circus train telescoped the sleeper ahead and many were struck never to awake. Many were terribly mangled so that identification is impossible. Among the injured is Bob Abrams, the boss hostler, of Sandusky, O. This afternoon the list of dead is placed at 22.

Detroit, Michigan, Aug. 7.—The Wallace circus which is billed to show at Newark, O., on Thursday, August 20, was wrecked this morning near Durand, and this state, twenty-two persons being killed and seventy injured.

The circus train was running in two sections over the Grand Trunk railroad.

The wreck occurred at 3:40 o'clock this morning a half mile east of Durand.

The list of the dead in part follows:

A. W. LARGE, special agent for the Grand Trunk with headquarters at Battle Creek.

J. W. MCCARTHY, Grand Trunk train.

JOHN PURCELL, Peru, Ind., showman.

LARSON, Cambridge, O., showman.

C. THOMAS, home unknown, showman.

JOHN LUSY, Springfield, Ill., showman.

ANDREW HAVILAND, New York, showman.

FRANK THORPE, Dundee, Mich., showman.

ROBERT WRIGHT, home unknown, showman.

GEO. SMITH, home unknown, showman.

CHAS. RANDO, Peru, Ind., showman.

JOSEPH NILSON, Pittsburg, showman.

James W. Foley, special agent of the Grand Trunk, is reported to be dying.

Dr. B. P. Broule, chief surgeon, of the Grand Trunk, and a corps of Detroit surgeons, left Detroit on an early morning train for the scene of the wreck.

The trains were running from Charlotte, where the circus exhibited last night to La Peer. Two sections were running about a half hour apart. The first section was standing on the main track near this city, when the second section crashed into it. The engineer of the second section said he was unable to stop his train when he saw train ahead of him on the track because of failure of the air brakes to work.

The injured number some two score. Some of them will die. All the injured are at the Richelieu hotel which has been turned into a temporary hospital.

The cause of the collision was the air brake on the second train getting out of order and failing to work. Nobody seems to be to blame.

The Wallace circus travels on two trains. In each train there are about 35 cars. The two trains left Charlotte about midnight. According to the rules the second train kept half an hour behind the first train. When the first train reached the Durand yards half a mile from the depot it stopped. A red lantern was promptly hung on the rear car.

When the second train came along half an hour later the first train was still on the main track in the yard. The red danger signal on the last car was

SEEKS A PRISON; CAN'T GET WORK

New York, Aug. 7.—Hungry, with his last cent gone, Charles J. Davis, under sentence for forgery in the Illinois state reformatory, who had violated the parole under which he was released from that institution, gave himself up yesterday and asked to be taken back to prison, as he had no hope of making an honest living.

Inability to get work at his trade, as a stone cutter, because not a member of a union, is the reason, he declares, for his despondency.

Davis said that he was sentenced to the Illinois state reformatory in 1897.

OFFICERS REFUSE TO EAT AT TABLE WITH A NEGRO.

Miller is Forced to Dine Alone on the Columbia—A Crisis is Rapidly Drawing Near.

New York, Aug. 7.—The whole navy is watching with keen interest a fight in the Brooklyn navy yard which has been precipitated by the appointment of Isaac Miller, a negro, to the rating of chief petty officer aboard the receiving ship Columbia.

When Miller took his place at the men's table for the first time at dinner the eight others who had taken their places a few minutes before, got up with one accord and left the table.

Since then they have refused to eat at the same table with Miller, and either wait until he has finished his meal, or, if he comes in while they are at the table, get up and leave.

Unless Miller is transferred to another ship within a few days, a crisis will be brought on.

While the chances are that if Miller is transferred to a ship in commission, the trouble will be transferred with him.

Miller's promotion coming on the heels of the recent semi-official announcement that the negroes were to be eliminated from the navy is regarded by some of the officers as in the nature of a test of the temper of the men and predict that it will bring the question of negroes in the navy to a test.

SAVAGES ARE TO BE SENT INTO THE FIELD.

WAR FEVER IS RUNNING HIGH Throughout Bulgaria—Russian and Austrian Governments Take Notice—Macedonian Revolution.

Vienna, Aug. 7.—It is only the most optimistic among statesmen here who do not believe that the long deferred crisis in the Balkans is at hand.

On top of the news that there had been a concerted rising of the revolutionary Macedonians in the vilayet of Monastir, comes the news that the Turkish government is fully aware of conditions there and is prepared to meet them with unusual vigor.

Back of this is said to be a determination to flood Macedonia with Mohammedans, and with savage Asiatics, who will delight in putting Christians to the sword and who know no mercy.

The troops will be put under the command of the most fanatical Moslems to be found in the Turkish army and the war which already is practically inaugurated will, it is feared, be one of ruthless extermination.

It is safe to say that prisoners will be taken on either side.

The revolutionary leaders are confident that by pursuing this policy, they can either wear the Turks down or create such a condition of anarchy that neighboring European states will be forced to intervene.

There are now in the affected districts 80,000 Turkish troops, and reinforcements are being pushed forward.

From Sofia comes word that the Bulgarians are greatly excited over the situation, and that the war feeling is running higher than ever it did.

It is known that the Austrian and Russian foreign offices have been in communication over the critical state of affairs in the Balkans.

Neither government wants war now, but the feeling is growing in high official circles that the situation is rapidly getting beyond control.

"It is an experiment, the object of which is to attempt to introduce into the monotonous lives of the toiling masses of Dunfermline more of sweetness and light, to give them, especially the young, some charm, some elevating conditions of life which their residence elsewhere would have decided so that a child in his native town will feel how ever far he may have roamed, that simply by virtue of being such his life has been made happier and better."

POPE PIUS RECEIVED GIBBONS IN PRIVATE AUDIENCE TODAY

Charged Cardinal to Carry Benediction to America

Preparations Now Going on For the Coronation Sunday

Function Will Occupy Five Hours and Will Be Brilliant—Bells are Told in Rome to Proclaim the Election of the New Pope Pius the Tenth.

Rome, Aug. 7.—Pope Pius X received Cardinal Gibbons in private audience today. A lengthy conference was held during which the Pope asked particularly about church affairs and charged Cardinal Gibbons to carry the apostolic benediction to Catholics in his country. Later Cardinal Gibbons presented Monsignor O'Connell, and Father Grannon of the Catholic University in Washington, and his secretary, Father Garvany, to Pius X.

Pope Pius spent this morning quietly in the Vatican. While looking over the thousands of dispatches of congratulation that had been received since Tuesday when he was proclaimed pope, Pope Pius exclaimed: "There is still one lacking," alluding evidently to King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, and added: "Still, we were good friends when I was in Venice."

Pope Pius X is credited with the intention to show great moderation towards the Italian government, but in the meanwhile he will prepare the clerical electoral force, as he did in his Venetian reign, especially during the nine years he was patriarch of Venice, so that he will be able whenever necessary to influence through the ballots any situation that may arise.

Rome, Aug. 7.—The attention of Rome is now centered on the coronation ceremony Sunday next and for which great preparations are making. The throne of St. Peter, which Pius X will occupy, will be surmounted by a canopy of 40 feet high. The function will consume five hours. The Pope has informed the Vatican officers that he wishes to be received on the threshold of the basilica by Cardinal Ruini, who, as archpriest of the church, will address the formal greetings to him. At the conclusion of the ceremony the Pope will confer his blessing upon the people, but it has not yet been decided whether he will do so inside the church or from the balcony overlooking out the piazza, where many hoped he would bestow his benediction on the day of his election. It is said that Pius is favorable to the latter plan, but that the influence of the Vatican officers is against it on the ground that it might be interpreted as a recognition of the present state of affairs in Italy.

The holding of the coronation ceremonies in St. Peter's itself represents a concession, as in the case of Leo III occurred in the Sixtine Chapel. Sixty thousand tickets will be issued for the event.

In the ceremonies to be held Monday and Tuesday next, the Pope will confer the red hat on Cardinal Aguirre, Talenti, Katschthaler and Herrero y Espinosa, who were raised from purple on June 25, but who have not received these symbols of rank because of the illness and death of Leo. It is believed that the Spanish Cardinal Herrero will not be able to be present at the coronation ceremonies.

As the Pope enters the church for the coronation a clerk of the papal chapel will hold before him a red, surmounted by a handful of hay. This is lighted; it flashes up for a moment and then dies out as the chaplain chants: "Pater Sanctus, sanctus, sanctus." (Holy Father, thus, kneel and ring was redeemed from a pawnshop the day before his departure for Rome. Nearly in almost will then begin as usual, but before the coronation of the altar the "Blessing of the Pontiff" will be pronounced, used to pledge his ring at a pawnshop, by three Cardinal Bishops, each of whom recites a prayer over him. After the Collects will come the three-fold supplications to God for the welfare of the new Pope.

The second Cardinal Deacon will take off the mitre and then the senior Cardinal Deacon (Macchi) will place the tiara on his head. The Pope reckons his pontificate from his coronation day, although, of course, he is Pope from the day of his election.

During one full hour yesterday there seemed to be nothing but vibrating sounds, so penetrating were the strokes of the bells of about 500 churches, which, all ringing together, absorbed all other noises. The ringing was in honor of the election of Pius X. The bells involuntarily served another purpose, that of ringing in the ceremony of the reception of the diplomatic body accredited to the Holy See.

Senhor D'Antas, the Portuguese Ambassador and dean of the Diplomatic Corps, read the collective greeting of his colleagues to the new Pope, and assuring him of their fidelity. Pius X. answered with cordiality, thanking them heartily for their good wishes. All then kissed his hand. The Pontiff spoke personally to each, showing a knowledge of the politics of the divers countries which surprised the diplomats, the new pontiff being credited with taking small interest in affairs outside Italy. It was another surprise to hear him speak French, if not fluently, at least with readiness.

Cardinal Gibbons, accompanied by his conclavist, Father P. C. Gaven visited the Church of Santa Maria in Trastevere; the Cardinal's titular church. He was warmly received by the whole chapter, headed by the canon and archpriests.

Pius X. has appointed his conclavist, Mgr. Bressan, as his private chaplain, which means that he will also be the pontiff's chief private secretary.

Three parties of American tourists yesterday afternoon were presented to the Pope by Cardinal Gibbons. Cardinal Gibbons presented some of the visitors to his holiness, who said a few words to each.

Among other things his holiness remarked that "Catholics in the United States by their activity and their success in the propagation of the faith furnished a worthy example to the Catholics of all other countries."

Apart from a few members of the Roman aristocracy and Vatican officials these American tourists are the first laymen who have been received by the Pope since his election.

It is almost certain that the Pope will abolish a great number of posts at the Papal Court, and it is said he intends absolutely to abolish the corps of noble guards, 75 titled members of the Roman aristocracy, who form the Pope's guard of honor when he goes to his apartments. He declines to be escorted by the noble guards or Palatine guards. He has decided that no standards shall be erected for his coronation in St. Peter's. Contrary to custom, there will be no places reserved for members of royal families or of Roman aristocracy in making known his decision in this matter the Pope said:

"In the church all Christians are equal before God."

It is now certain that Sarto's arch-kneel and ring was redeemed from a pawnshop the day before his departure for Rome. Nearly in almost will then begin as usual, but before the coronation of the altar the "Blessing of the Pontiff" will be pronounced, used to pledge his ring at a pawnshop, by three Cardinal Bishops, each of Traveled 1,000 Miles Before They Succeeded in Obtaining a License.

Youngstown, O., Aug. 7.—For more than a week Frank Felton and Margaret Hafer, of Pittsburg, have been traveling about, endeavoring in vain, to secure a marriage license. They obtained it yesterday in the Probate Court here and were at once united in marriage by Dr. S. R. Frazier, of the Tabernacle U. P. church. They had traveled 1,000 miles. A week ago they left on a trip to Canada with a party of friends. They intended to secure a license there, but found that they could not. Then they took a boat for Cleveland, where they again failed. Finally they took a train for Youngstown, famed far and near as a "cotton green," and here they had no trouble.

CABLE

Being Strung in West Newark by the Independent Telephone Company. New Exchanges.

Manager Hollander of the Newark Independent Telephone company, said Friday morning that he had just strung 3000 feet of new cable in West Newark and has 12,000 more feet on hand ready to put up. Within two weeks he will be able to add a number of West Newark subscribers to the exchange it being impossible to put more subscribers on the system in that part of the city till the new cables are up.

The work of rebuilding the Granville exchange will be finished this month and during the month of September five farmers' lines will be run out of Granville in as many different directions to accommodate rural patrons of the system.

Work on the new exchange at Hebron which with the farmers lines there will have 200 subscribers has just been commenced. This new exchange like that at Granville, Johnstown, Utica, Homer and Pataskala will have direct connection with the Newark plant. Mr. Hollander says that the new toll board will be installed in a few days. This will enable the operators to give more prompt out of town service, the one single board now in use being inadequate to supply the demand for out of town talking.

The Newark exchange has almost doubled the number of its subscribers in the past six months.

Is Organized at the Chicago University. Clarence Coons of Granville Being Elected President.

The Ohio students at the University of Chicago have organized an "Ohio Club." A social gathering on Monday evening was made the occasion of the election of officers for the year 1903-4. Granville was represented by the choice of Clarence Coons as president, Francis W. Shephardson as secretary and Willis A. Chamberlain as one member of the Executive Committee. There were seventy-five present at the meeting which was held in the library of Hitchcock Hall, one of the dormitories for men. The Granville people present included Frank J. Miller, D. U. '79; F. W. Shephardson, D. U. '82 and Mrs. Shephardson; W. B. Owen, D. U. '87 and Mrs. Owen; E. I. Goodspeed, D. U. '90 and Mrs. Goodspeed; T. B. Goodspeed, D. U. '90; James W. Kyle and Mrs. Kyle, Professor Clark W. Chamberlain, Superintendent Coons, H. J. Skipp, and D. H. Warner, a former student. On being called to the chair Superintendent Coons made a catchy speech which pleased all and confirmed them in the opinion that a wise choice of president had been made. Mr. Coons added much to the enjoyment of the occasion by the distribution as souvenirs of buckeyes secured by him with the co-operation of W. E. Mead of Pataskala.

charging a McKenzie, Tenn., editor with having induced her to drink from a flask which she said she thought contained port wine.

She tried to conceal her identity, but cards in her purse and letters revealed that she was Miss Bessie Dismukes. She said that she had met a friend on the train coming from Nashville to Memphis. The police succeeded in unearthing evidence which they alleged implicated Thomas Biles. An analysis of the contents of the bottle from which Miss Dismukes drank showed that it was a combination of port wine and whisky. Witnesses were found who saw Miss Dismukes with Mr. Biles a short time after the arrival. It was alleged that Biles had made an attempt to register at a hotel as Thomas Biles and wife. On Miss Dismukes' recovery the matter was passed over and was followed by the disappearance of Biles, who has not been seen since.

CHAPTER VIII. THE PILOT'S GRIP.

THE situation was one of extreme danger—a madman with a Winchester rifle. Something must be done and quickly. But what? It would be death to any one appearing at the door.

"I'll speak. You keep your eyes on him," said the Duke.

"Hello, Bruce! What's the row?" shouted the Duke.

Instantly the singing stopped. A look of cunning delight came over his face as, without a word, he got his rifle ready pointed at the door.

"Come in!" he yelled, after waiting for some moments. "Come in! You're the biggest of all the devils. Come on; I'll send you down where you belong. Come, what's keeping you?"

Over the rifle barrel his eyes gleamed with frenzied delight. We consulted as to a plan.

"I don't relish a bullet much," I said. "There are pleasanter things," responded the Duke, "and he is a fairly good shot."

Meantime the singing had started again, and, looking through the chink, I saw that Bruce had got his eye on the stovepipe again. While I was looking the Pilot slipped away from us toward the door.

"Come back!" said the Duke. "Don't be a fool! Come back; he'll shoot you dead!"

Moore paid no heed to him, but stood waiting at the door. In a few moments Bruce blazed away again at the stovepipe. Immediately the Pilot burst in, calling out eagerly:

"Did you get him?"

"No!" said Bruce disappointedly. "He dodged like the devil, as of course he ought, you know."

"I'll get him," said Moore; "smoke him out," proceeding to open the stove door.

"Stop!" screamed Bruce. "Don't open that door! It's full, I tell you!" Moore paused. "Besides," went on Bruce, "smoke won't touch 'em."

"Oh, that's all right," said Moore coolly and with admirable quickness. "Wood smoke, you know; they can't stand that."

This was apparently a new idea in demology for Bruce, for he sank back, while Moore lighted the fire and put on the teakettle. He looked round for the tea caddy.

"Up there," said Bruce, forgetting for the moment his devil and pointing to a quaint, old fashioned tea caddy upon the shelf.

Moore took it down, turned it in his hands and looked at Bruce.

"Old country, eh?"

"My mother's," said Bruce soberly. "I could have sworn it was my aunt's in Ballymena," said Moore.

"My aunt lived in a little stone cottage with roses all over the front of it." And on he went into an enthusiastic description of his early home. His voice was full of music, soft and soothing, and poor Bruce sank back and listened, the glitter fading from his eyes.

The Duke and I looked at each other. "Not too bad, eh?" said the Duke after a few moments' silence.

"Let's put up the horses," I suggested. "They won't want us for half an hour."

When we came in, the room had been set in order, the teakettle was singing, the bedclothes were straightened out, and Moore had just finished washing the blood stains from Bruce's arms and neck.

"Just in time," he said. "I didn't like to tackle these," pointing to the bandages.

All night long Moore soothed and tended the sick man, now singing softly to him and again beguiling him with tales that meant nothing, but that had a strange power to quiet the nervous restlessness due partly to the pain of the wounded arm and partly to the nerve wrecking from his months of dissipation. The Duke seemed uncomfortable enough. He spoke to Bruce once or twice, but the only answer was a groan or curse, with an increase of restlessness.

"He'll have a close squeak," said the Duke. The carelessness of the tone was a little overdone, but the Pilot was stirred up by it.

"He has not been fortunate in his friends," he said, looking straight into his eyes.

"A man ought to know himself when the pace is too swift," said the Duke, a little more quickly than was his wont.

"You might have done anything with him. Why didn't you help him?" Moore's tones were stern and very steady, and he never moved his eyes from the other man's face but the only reply he got was a shrug of the shoulders.

When the gray of the morning was coming in at the window the Duke rose up, gave himself a little shake and said:

"I am not of any service here. I shall come back in the evening."

He went and stood for a few moments looking down upon the hot, fevered face; then, turning to me, he asked:

"What do you think?"

for that wound."

"Can I get anything?" I knew him well enough to recognize the anxiety under his indifferent manner.

"The Fort Doctor ought to be got," he nodded and went out.

"Have breakfast?" called out Moore from the door.

"I shall get some at the Fort, thanks. They won't take any hurt from me there," he said, smiling his cynical smile.

Moore opened his eyes in surprise. "What's that for?" he asked me.

"Well, he is rather cut up, and you rather rubbed it into him, you know," I said, for I thought Moore a little hard.

"Did I say anything untrue?"

"Well, not untrue, perhaps; but truth is like medicine—not always good to take." At which Moore was silent till his patient needed him again.

It was a weary day. The intense pain from the wound and the high fever from the poison in his blood kept the poor fellow in delirium till evening, when the Duke rode up with the Fort doctor. Jingo appeared as nearly played out as a horse of his spirit ever allowed himself to become.

"Seventy miles," said the Duke, swinging himself off the saddle. "The doctor was ten miles out. How is he?"

I shook my head, and he led away his horse to give him a rub and a feed. Meantime the doctor, who was of the army and had seen service, was examining his patient. He grew more and more puzzled as he noted the various symptoms. Finally he broke out:

"What have you been doing to him? Why is he in this condition? This flea bite doesn't account for all," pointing to the wound.

We stood like children reproved. Then the Duke said hesitatingly:

"I fear, doctor, the life has been a little too hard for him. He had a severe nervous attack—seeing things, you know."

"Yes, I know," stormed the old doctor. "I know you well enough, with your head of cast iron and no nerves to speak of. I know the crowd and how you lead them. Infernal fools! You'll get your turn some day. I've warned you before."

The Duke was standing up before the doctor during this storm smiling slightly. All at once the smile faded out, and he pointed to the bed. Bruce was sitting up quiet and steady. He stretched out his hand to the Duke.

"Don't mind the old fool," he said, holding the Duke's hand and looking up at him as fondly as if he were a girl. "It's my own funeral—funeral!"

He paused. "Perhaps it may be—who knows?—feel queer enough—but, remember, Duke. It's my own fault. Don't listen to those bally fools," looking toward Moore and the doctor.

"My own fault"—his voice died down—"my own fault."

The Duke bent over him and laid him back on the pillow, saying:

"Thanks, old chap. You're good stuff. I'll not forget. Just keep quiet and you'll be all right." He passed his cool, firm hand over the hot brow of the man looking up at him with love in his eyes, and in a few moments Bruce fell asleep. Then the Duke lifted himself up and, facing the doctor, said in his coolest tone:

"Your words are more true than opportunity, doctor. Your patient will need all your attention. As for my morals, Mr. Moore kindly intrusts himself with the care of them." This with a bow toward the Pilot.

"I wish him joy of his charge," snorted the doctor, turning again to the bed where Bruce had already passed into delirium.

The memory of that vigil was like a horrible nightmare for months. Moore lay on the floor and slept. The Duke rode off somewhat better. The old doctor and I kept watch. All night long Bruce raved in the wildest delirium, singing now psalms, now songs, swearing at the cattle or his poker partners, and now and then, in the quieter moments, he was back in his old home, a boy, with a boy's friends and sports. Nothing could check the fever. It baffled the doctor, who often during the night declared there was no sense in a wound like that working up ing at the cattle or his poker partners, and now and then, in the quieter moments, he was back in his old home, a boy, with a boy's friends and sports. Nothing could check the fever. It baffled the doctor, who often during the night declared there was no sense in a wound like that working up such a fever, adding curses upon the folly of the Duke and his Company. "You don't think he will not get better, doctor?" I asked, in answer to one of his outbursts.

"He ought to get over this," he answered impatiently. "But I believe," he added deliberately, "he'll have to go."

Everything stood still for a moment. It seemed impossible. Two days ago full of life, now on the way out. There crowded in upon me thoughts of his home; his mother, whose letters he used to show me full of anxious love; his wild life here, with all its generous impulses, its mistakes, its folly.

"How long will he last?" I asked, and my lips were dry and numb.

"Perhaps twenty-four hours, perhaps longer. He can't throw off the poison."

The old doctor proved a true prophet. After another day of agonized delirium he sank into a stupor which lasted through the night.

Then the change came. As the light began to grow at the eastern rim of the prairie and tip the far mountains in the west, Bruce opened his eyes and looked about upon us. The doctor had gone; the Duke had not come back; Moore and I were alone. He gazed at us steadily for some moments; read our faces. A look of wonder came into his eyes.

"Is it coming?" he asked in a faint, awed voice. "Do you really think I must go?"

The eager appeal in his voice and the wistful longing in the wide open, startled eyes were too much for Moore. He backed behind me and I could hear him weeping like a baby. Bruce heard him too.

"Is that the Pilot?" he asked. Instantly Moore pulled himself up, wiped his eyes and came round to the other side of the bed and looked down, smiling.

"Do you say I am dying?" The voice was strained in its earnestness. I felt a thrill of admiration go through me as the Pilot answered in a sweet, clear voice: "They say so, Bruce. But you are not afraid?"

Bruce kept his eyes on his face and answered with grave hesitation: "No—not afraid—but I'd like to live a little longer. I've made such a mess of it I'd like to try again." Then he paused and his lips quivered a little. "There's my mother, you know," he added apologetically, "and Jim." Jim was his younger brother and sworn chum.

"Yes, I know, Bruce, but it won't be very long for them, too, and it's a good place."

"Yes, I believe it all—always did—talked rot—you'll forgive me that?"

"Don't, don't," said Moore quickly, with sharp pain in his voice, and Bruce smiled a little and closed his eyes, saying, "I'm tired." But he immediately opened them again and looked up.

"What is it?" asked Moore, smiling down into his eyes.

"The Duke," the poor lips whispered. "He is coming," said Moore confidently, though how he knew I could not tell. But even as he spoke, looking out of the window, I saw Jingo come swinging round the bluff. Bruce heard the beat of his hoofs, smiled, opened his eyes and waited. The leap of joy in his eyes as the Duke came in, clean, cool and fresh as the morning, went to my heart.

Neither man said a word, but Bruce took hold of the Duke's hand in both of his. He was fast growing weaker. I gave him brandy and he recovered a little strength.

"I am dying, Duke," he said quietly. "Promise you won't blame yourself."

"I can't, old man," said the Duke, with a shudder. "Would to heaven I could."

"You were too strong for me and you didn't think, did you? And the weak voice had a caress in it.

"No, no! God knows," said the Duke hurriedly.

There was a long silence, and again Bruce opened his eyes and whispered: "The Pilot."

Moore came to him.

"Read 'The Prodigal,'" he said faintly, and in Moore's clear, sweet voice the music of that matchless story fell upon our ears.

Again Bruce's eyes summoned me. I bent over him.

"My letter," he said faintly; "in my coat."

I brought to him the last letter from his mother. He held the envelope before his eyes, then handed it to me, whispering:

"Read."

I opened the letter and looked at the words "My darling Davie." My tongue stuck and not a sound could I make. Moore put out his hand and took it from me. The Duke rose to go out, calling me with his eyes, but Bruce motioned him to stay, and he sat down and bowed his head while Moore read the letter.

His tones were clear and steady till he came to the last words, when his voice broke and ended in a sob:

"And, oh, Davie, laddie, if ever your heart turns home again remember the door is open, and it's joy you'll bring with you to us all."

Bruce lay quite still and from his closed eyes big tears ran down his cheeks. It was his last farewell to her whose love had been to him the anchor to all things pure here and to heaven beyond.

He took the letter from Moore's hand, put it with difficulty to his lips, and then, touching the open Bible, he said between his breaths:

"It's—very like—the really—no fear, is there?"

"No, no!" said Moore, with cheerful, confident voice, though his tears were flowing. "No fear of your welcome."

His eyes met mine. I bent over him. "Tell her"—and his voice faded away.

"What shall I tell her?" I asked, trying to recall him. But the message was never given. He moved one hand slowly toward the Duke till it touched his head. The Duke lifted his face and looked down at him and then he did a beautiful thing for which I forgive him much. He stooped down and kissed the lips grown so white, and then the brow. The light came back into the eyes of the dying man, he smiled once more and smilingly faced toward the great beyond. And the morning air, fresh from the sun-dipped mountains and sweet with the scent of the June roses, came blowing soft and cool through the open window upon the dead, smiling face. And it seemed fitting so. It came from the land of the morning.

Again the Duke did a beautiful thing; for, reaching across his dead friend, he offered his hand to the Pilot. "Mr. Moore," he said with fine courtesy, "you are a brave man and a good man. I ask your forgiveness for much rudeness."

But Moore only shook his head while he took the outstretched hand and said brokenly, "Don't; I can't stand it."

"The Company of the Noble Seven will meet no more," said the Duke with a faint smile.

They did meet, however; but when they did the Pilot was in the chair and it was not for poker.

The Pilot had "got his grip," as Bill said.

SURETIES

OF JOHN J. CHESTER ASK FOR RELEASE.

Lawyer, McCormick Talking for Mr. Chester Says the Charge is Merely Formal Statement.

Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—The Fidelity & Deposit Co., of Maryland has filed a petition asking the probate court to be released from the bond of Mr. John J. Chester, administrator of the estate of the late Dr. Van S. Seltzer. In the petition they charge Mr. Chester with failing to make settlements with the probate court. In other words, failing to file accounts and with failing to live up to his agreement with the company to make periodical reports to them concerning the condition of the estate.

Mr. Chester, formerly of Newark, is out of the city, having gone to Crab Lake, Wis., a day or two ago. He will not return for about ten days. During his absence Attorney E. W. McCormick transacted his business. Mr. McCormick was asked concerning the charges of the deposit company made in the petition. Mr. McCormick says:

"They are merely formal. There is nothing serious in them. The facts are that some time ago Mr. Chester received a letter from one of the clerks of the company which he considered insulting. He thereupon wrote to the company that he would like to have them discontinue their surety on the bonds and made arrangements for giving a new bond. I know of my own knowledge that Mr. Chester is up with his accounts. The fact is that the Van S. Seltzer estate owes Mr. Chester about $200. His last account, which I made out myself a couple of weeks ago and filed, shows that instead of his being indebted to the estate, the estate is indebted to him about $200. The charges are merely formal to bring about a change in the surety."

LOST

In the Race With Death—Ohio Man Reached the Colorado City After Brother Had Died.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., Aug. 7.—A sad case which has just come to light here is that of an Ohio man formerly employed on the Colorado Midland railway in Cardiff, near this place. The story is narrated by A. L. Davis, clerk of the courts in Ravenna, Ohio a brother of the dead man.

Davis had not heard from the brother for 10 years. Eight years ago he commenced a search for him. He located him in Steamboat Springs and came West to find him, but on arriving he learned that his brother, who was a prospector, had left. Since that time he has heard nothing until about ten days ago, when he received a dispatch from a hospital in Colorado Springs that his brother was dying there. He left at once, only to find that the patient had died on the day following which the dispatch was sent.

From the nurses in the hospital Mr. Davis learned that his brother had steadfastly maintained that he had no living relatives. During intervals of his illness, however, when his mind was wandering, the sick man called for his brother, and, on the day before his death, he gave his brother's address to the nurses.

The man had for some time been a member of the Midland section gang stationed at Cardiff. How he came to take such a position will always remain a mystery, for he was a man of education and had enjoyed a college training. Mr. Davis said yesterday he supposed his brother had become discouraged and had taken any position by which he might earn a living and had been too proud to inform his relatives of his failure in business ventures. He left a few personal belongings which his brother took home with him.

RETIREES

FROM HIS ACTIVE PROFESSIONAL WORK

Does Dr. Galusha Anderson, Former President of Denison University. What Dr. Harper Says.

Dr. Galusha Anderson, who was president of Denison University at Granville for several years, previous to the term of D. B. Purinton, has given up active professional duties. Dr. Anderson preached many times at the Baptist and Second Presbyterian churches in this city. He went from Granville to the Baptist Theological Seminary at Morgan Park, Ill. and when that institution was consolidated with the new University of Chicago in 1892, he became a member of the faculty of the university. He has given faithful service in this capacity, and when President Harper announced his retirement, he said:

"I desire to report that, in view of the long and faithful service of Prof. Galusha Anderson, Head of the Department of Homiletics, and in view of the fact that he has reached the age of seventy years, the trustees of the university, acting with the trustees of the theological union, have voted to release him henceforth from regular official duties; at the same time it is my privilege to announce that they have made a suitable financial arrangement which will free Dr. Anderson from anxiety and concern as to his future. The proposition to give up his regular duties was suggested by Dr. Anderson himself. The trustees in effecting the arrangement have had in mind the excellent service rendered by Dr. Anderson to the cause of education during more than a score of years. The splendid struggle which he made to save the old university has not passed out of the minds of men. The courage which he manifested through this long effort was magnificent. The strength of his service in connection with old Theological seminary and, after its reorganization in connection with the university, has been admired by all who have come in contact with him and his work. In this action of the trustees evidence is furnished of their readiness to give recognition to the faithful work of those who spend their lives in the service of the institution. In accordance with the arrangement made Dr. Anderson retains his place in the faculty of the Divinity school and in the Senate of the University. Such special service as he may be able and willing to render from time to time will be thoroughly appreciated by the friends of the Divinity School and the University. It is understood that opportunity is thus given him to prepare for the press certain volumes of an important character; and it is believed that this service will be one for which his own students, and those who are to be students of theology in the future, will be grateful to him. The university has had no more loyal, faithful, or efficient officer in its twelve years than Dr. Anderson, and if the wishes of his colleagues and their prayers may prevail, his life will be spared many years for the execution of work which will redound to the credit and honor of himself and the institution which he will continue to represent."

CAMP ORDER ISSUED

Adjutant General Wright Furnishes Draft of Rules to Govern the Ohio National Guardsmen at the Newark Encampment.

Lieutenant Colonel George M. Wright, by command of Major General Charles Dick of the Ohio National Guard, has issued general order No. 1, giving the detail for the division encampment to be held at Camp McKinley, Newark, beginning August 17.

The movements of the respective commands to and from camp will be made according to the schedule prepared by the chief quartermaster, who will transmit the same to the commanding officers direct, with other information relative to transportation. It is ordered that the generals commanding the First and Second brigade with their respective staffs, shall report to the division commander at the camp not later than August 17.

Baggage will be reduced to the minimum, and all will be properly marked. Each company, troop and battery, beside their regular equipment and the personal baggage of officers reduced to the minimum, will carry the following only, viz: one field desk; one field range with utensils nested therein; one chest or box containing extra utensils, and tools consisting of at least two spades, two shovels, two axes, two mauls, one hammer, one hatchet, one saw, nails, twine, etc., four rakes and four brooms (or rakes and brooms may be bundled); and one chest or box containing caps (or hats). No chinaware or crockery will be allowed. No blanket bags will be carried unless expressly ordered by regimental, separate battalion, troop or battery commanders. In the absence of blanket bags the extra clothing of enlisted men will be carried in blanket rolls and shelter halves (or saddle bags).

Attention is invited to the distinction made by existing regulations between the "full dress" uniform and the "dress" uniform. The dress uniform will be required. Hats will be carried as well as caps; and the hat may be worn with the blue trousers and blue flannel shirt on drill and practice marches, and on fatigue and police duty. Canvas leggings will also be worn with the blue trousers. Dis-mounted officers with troops wearing leggings will wear either russet leather puttees or leggings, or canvas leggings. Mounted officers in dress uniform will wear black boots or black shoes and black leggings. Gauntlets will not be worn; regulation gloves will be worn instead. Provided, however, that if any troop or battery is not supplied with the new regulation gloves, gauntlets may be worn by the officers and men of such organization.

Officers and enlisted men may wear the blue flannel shirt, without blouse or suspenders when the occasion does not properly require the blouse to be worn. Officers appearing in the blue flannel shirt without the blouse will wear the insignia of their rank upon the collar (on both sides). Officers having the new service uniform may wear the same on proper occasions whether the troops with which they are serving are in service uniform or not. If any entire organization is equipped with the service uniform (either woolen or cotton) such uniforms may also be carried, and the same may be worn on occasions when hereafter authorized. White collars and white gloves will be required on certain occasions and will be carried.

To organize provisional supply departments, the brigade quartermasters are directed to report to the chief quartermaster and the brigade commissaries will report to the chief commissary not later than 6 a. m. August 15.

Regimental quartermasters, each with a detail of a quartermaster sergeant and a detail of ten from his organization are to report 24 hours before schedule time for arrival of their regiment, to draw tentage, fuel, etc. Each regiment, separate battalion, troop and battery upon arriving in camp will pitch its tent upon the space assigned. Subsequently, forage, fuel, etc., will be issued to organizations only for the following periods: For the battalion of engineers and the signal corps, ten days; and for all other troops, eight days. To others troops, subsistence will be issued, if required, from the time of arrival.

No transportation request from Camp McKinley will be issued to take effect or be used after August 16 and before August 24 unless such request is signed by division commander. Transportation requests will be issued during that period in cases of necessity or urgent necessity only, by the chief quartermaster. No seller or vendor of merchandise or food will be allowed at encampment unless specially authorized by the division commander.

PREPARATIONS

For the Big Military Camp Which Opens Here on the 17th Inst.—New Light Plant—Enlarged Water System—Better Car Service.

"Everything will be in readiness when the band plays," said Col. Benny Priest who has been at the state camp grounds since the first part of last June, exercising a general supervision of the work of getting things about the grounds in shape for the big division encampment of the Ohio National Guard, which begins August 17.

The remark of Benny Priest expresses the opinion entertained by all the men at work on the various lines of preparation, and after a tour of the grounds an Advocate reporter was convinced that everything will be ready when the band plays.

The work of the men now at the ground has been principally that of getting the grounds in shape and has to do more with the improvements of a permanent nature than with those of a temporary and military character, which will be carried out under the direction of staff officers, and details of men.

The principal improvement at once noticeable, is the new electric power house, engine and boiler room and pumping station combined, which has just been completed at the southeast end of the grove near the old power house, and where the street cars last season, discharged their passengers.

The new building is a substantial frame affair, with slate roof and all built of the best of material, destined to last many years.

The new 70 horse power boiler has been installed and in the next room is the new 50 horse power engine and two dynamos, one for arc lights, the other for incandescent.

The work of setting this machinery in place was finished Thursday evening, and all that remains is to make the connections and everything will be ready to start. The test of the new engine will probably be made on Monday, and of the dynamos as soon as the wiring is completed.

The pumping station is under the same roof adjoining the engine room. There are two pumps of great capacity, which will supply the camp with an abundance of the very best water that can be obtained anywhere, drawn from two wells 56 and 54 feet deep respectively. The water is as cold as ice, and clear as crystal, and will be conducive to the healthfulness of the camp, as has been the case heretofore.

The pumps are so connected that one or both can be used, and the supply furnished has been the admiration of all who have seen them.

The camp will be supplied with water through 15,000 feet of pipe, and about 80 hydrants.

The engine room and power house will be in charge of Glenn Weiman and Benjamin Priest of the State House engineers.

C. J. Shipley of Columbus, of the Erner-Hopkins company of that city, is in charge of wiring the camp and placing the lights. There will be fifty arc lights, one being placed on each mound of the octagon and five on the inside. Around and within the circular mound will be placed a number of lights as well as other places where they are needed. There will be a great number of incandescent lights, placed in regimental and company headquarters so that the light during the encampment will be adequate.

Sergeant John Kendall, Corporal L. Davis and Private C. Orr, of Company C, Newark, have been detailed to assist in this work.

Early next week detachments of the signal and engineering corps will be at the ground and will do the work of making roads, building telephone lines and other necessary labor to complete the perfect equipment of the grounds.

The stables which will accommodate 70 head of horses, have been moved from where they have stood to a point outside the mounds near the flag pole, to the right of the carriage entrance to the grounds. This was deemed advisable owing to the fact that the stables have been too close to the rifle range for the safety of horses and men.

The men at work have established a camp on the grounds the most popular man in it being the colored cook, Nicholas, known as "Chey Posey," of Columbus, who is a famous military culinary artist.

Everyone connected with the coming encampment receives a hearty welcome to the camp, and the highest military officers of Ohio have been guests during the past week.

Among those who have been in camp are General J. C. Speaks, General W. V. McMakin, brigade commanders, Col. Edward Miller, assistant adjutant general, Col. Harry Taylor, Col. Adams and others.

The street car company under General Manager J. R. Harrigan and Superintendent F. C. Mowry, have made arrangements to handle vast crowds of people as well as camp baggage. Two side tracks run across the side of Shide's field, next the grove, to the fence beyond, each 500 feet long. The company owns this strip of 25 feet, and expects to complete the tracks today.

A loop has been constructed in the Richard Shide orchard, another long switch will be built east of the school house, so that every switch from the square to the camp ground will practically be in sight of each other, thus giving nearly all the advantages of a double track service.

The cars of baggage arriving on the T. & O. C. steam road will be pushed onto the electric road's tracks above the camp ground and then pulled over these tracks east to the orchard switch by an electric motor, and then pushed into one of the 500 foot side tracks. Here will stand refrigerator freight cars and others that cannot be unloaded. The others will be returned to the T. & O. C. as soon as they are unloaded.

In the passenger traffic the loaded cars will probably go into the grounds over the new orchard switch, and come out over the old switch.

SILVER

TO BE CONVERTED INTO GOLD, SAYS HUNTER.

Who Hides the Secret of His Invention. Says He Will Build an Enormous Plant.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—By this time next year Rudolph M. Hunter will be converting silver into gold at the rate of ten thousand dollars a day.

The inventor or alchemist as he might be called was seen at his office and talked freely of his project.

"Some time this fall," he said, "I expect to build a plant which will cover half a square and cost $500,000. When this plant gets in working order thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of gold can be turned out daily."

"Associated with me in this enterprise are about two dozen of the most prominent and conservative business men of this city."

"In the first place I am not going to have my process patented. Wealthy men could then go off to some other country where the patent laws could not be enforced and set up a plant. It would pay to buy an island and do it. The only safeguard we have is to manufacture the gold ourselves without outside help."

"It can readily be seen what a calamity it would be for the secret to become public property. One dollar's worth of silver becomes $49 worth of gold. The dumping of an enormous output of gold upon the world might mean a derangement of the entire economic fabric."

"I am planning to make my apparatus largely automatic, and can arrange it so that a few men can run an enormous plant by simply attending to a few things. The innermost room, where the real secret process will be operated will be in my personal charge."

AFRAID OF HIS WIFE.

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 7.—After filing suit for divorce Monroe Huntzinger demanded that his wife be restrained from molesting him. He said he was afraid that she would kill him. Mrs. Huntzinger said she will file a cross complaint.

POPE PIUS RECEIVED

where it often remained considerable time.

Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli, the youngest of the two distinguished brothers in the Sacred College, said today: "We all like Pius X. He will maintain Leo's famous encyclical on labor without adding to it. Our theologians always taught that the avarice of the rich should be opposed; that the taking of bread when starving or cold when freezing is not theft. It is a theological axiom that in extreme necessity all things become common. The Pope sprang from the poor, and sympathizes with democracy. He will arrive by gentle means at the desired result."

GIBBONS ILL

Rome, Aug. 7.—After having been received by the Pope today Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, was removed to his home on account of being taken ill. Physicians attending him ordered the cardinal to leave Rome immediately in order to escape the overpowering heat which is prevailing here. Cardinal Gibbons refused to obey the orders of the physicians, declaring that he wished to assist at the coronation of the Pope on Sunday.

Miss Zena M. Coons of 177 West Locust street, left Thursday for Springfield, Ohio, for a two weeks' visit with her friends, Misses Kathryn and Olive Brown.

BUCKSHOT TRAVELS.

Kokomo, Ind., Aug. 7.—Seven years ago John Degler was accidentally shot in the foot. Yesterday Degler felt a burning sensation in one of his armpits. Dr. J. L. Puckett probed for the cause and found a buckshot under the skin in the armpit. The shot had been seven years in working its way from the foot to the place from which it was extracted.

THE BOND ISSUE.

On the fourteenth of this month a special election will be held in the city of Newark to decide the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $50,000 for the purpose of supplying deficiencies in the city funds. A two-thirds vote is necessary.

At first thought one might be inclined to vote against the bond issue on the ground that it will increase the burden of taxation, but a little reflection will convince the voter that it will have exactly the reverse effect.

Newark in common with practically all of the other cities in Ohio, has for years been anticipating the tax collection; in other words it has been spending for current expenses the money collected the following six months, each six months anticipating the collection of taxes. The new law says the city must have the cash on hand before it can spend it.

Newark, therefore, in common with other cities, finds it necessary to raise a sum of money to supply the deficiency in the funds and the sum required in Newark is $50,000.

As the new law would not permit the officers to overdraw the accounts as has been the custom, the only way in which the city council could carry on the business of the city was to borrow the money. This was done and the city is paying 6 per cent interest for it. It is proposed to make the bonds 4 per cents. In case the bond issue fails to carry by a two-thirds vote the city council will have to continue to borrow and will have to continue to pay 6 per cent for its money, whereas if the bond issue carries, 4 per cent money will be secured.

It is, therefore, a business proposition to issue the bonds. It is the cheaper and better way. The city must have the money to meet its expenses, and if it is not obtained by means of a 4 per cent bond issue it will be secured through a 6 per cent loan. The loan is more expensive than the bonds.

Every voter should properly understand the question when he votes on August 14.

The postmaster general of the two last Republican administrations were active politicians but poor business men. An exchange remarks that that accounts for the looseness in that department.

Chillicothe News-Advertiser: There is nothing at all remarkable in the fact that the majority of the postal thieves, recently indicted are from Ohio. It is the most natural thing in the world that the corrupt politician will be corrupt in office. These men were given their jobs for corrupting the ballot, just as Rathbone got his job in payment for the crooked work he did in electing a United States Senator from Ohio. The stream never rises higher than its source.

The President is very anxious to have the postoffice scandals closed up. Certainly he is. Out of sight out of mind will apply. By dropping the prosecutions perhaps the people will forget before the next voting day. But the postoffice department isn't the only one. The grafting in the war department surpasses to a great degree anything suggested in the other excepting only the Cuban steals. But these latter are already forgiven. Those with a good memory will recall the threat of Rathbone that if he were prosecuted for the postal frauds in Cuba he would pull down the entire Republican machine in this country, letting none escape. And he wasn't prosecuted.

HANNA'S FRIENDS IN THE POSTAL SCANDALS.

It is worthy of note, particularly by the people of Ohio, that every time there is a fresh exposure of rottenness in the postoffice department, some man whom Senator Hanna has put in his position, or retained there, is caught in the net. It was Hanna's friend Rathbone, and Hanna's friend, Neeley, who were convicted of robberies in Cuba. It was Hanna's friend, Perry Heath, who made the appointments in the postmaster general's office, mostly at Hanna's dictation, which have turned out badly. It was Hanna's friend, Machen, who after turning from a Democrat to a Republican in order to make his retention easy for the junior senator, who was caught in so many acts of rascality that they cannot be enumerated in a brief article and against whom a dozen or so indictments are pending. It is Hanna's friend, Beavers, who is dodging an arrest on an indictment, in New York. Whichever way one turns, looking at the result of the investigation, it is one of Hanna's friends he sees. Moreover, Hanna has defended every one of the rascals that have been caught and has proudly proclaimed that he intends to "stand by his friends." Why he should be proud of his steadfastness, it is difficult to see; for not a man concerning whom he has made the boast is of such character that any respectable person would have any pride in knowing, to say anything of "standing by." The fact that the junior senator has never yet made this remark concerning any man who was above reproach would seem to indicate that the greater part of his friends are rascals of the first water. He has never yet said he would "stand by" any man whose reputation had not first been smirched as the result of some sort of an investigation.

HUMANITIES' SLAVERY.

Owing to the request of many people who have been attending the illustrated lectures at the Plymouth Congregational church for the past five or six Sunday evenings, the pastor has decided to give at least one more. This will be the strongest yet attempted, both as regards the lecture and views, occupying a field entirely different from that covered by the former lectures and views, and yet of tremendous importance to us all, socially, commercially, civilly and spiritually. The lecture theme will be "Humanities' Slavery," as seen in forty magnificent colored views, in four separate acts. The young man; sacrifice to the Goddess of Liberty in nine views; the drunkard's career, beginning with domestic happiness.

The subject will interest every parent and young boy in the city, and every one should be present to hear and see this magnificent story. We ask you to come early as the church is generally filled by 7:30 o'clock when the services begin.

The Republicans of this state will be especially active in the country districts and if possible line up the rural vote for Hanna, Herricks, Harding, Harmony and hands off, says the Youngstown Vindicator. The Republican leaders realize that in the cities their cause is a hopeless one and that it is going to prove hard work to talk against the effects of the Cox code and other legislation for which their party is responsible. The farmers haven't any reason to vote the Republican ticket this year any more than the voters of the cities.

Mrs. Mollie Allen, of South Fork, Ky., says she has prevented attacks of cholera morbus by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when she felt an attack coming on. Such attacks are usually caused by indigestion and these Tablets are just what is needed to cleanse the stomach and ward off the approaching attack. Attacks of bilious colic may be prevented in the same way. For sale by all druggists.

JOHNSTOWN

MAN HAS JUST FILED PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY.

Failure is Due to Natural Gas at Johnstown.—D. L. Swartz is the Petitioner.

Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—David L. Swartz, an electrician of Johnstown, O., filed a petition in bankruptcy in United States court yesterday. His debts are $3505.99, assets $6097.50.

Swartz owns a $6000 electrical plant, but could not hold his subscribers to contracts and has been operating it at a loss for several years. If the plant is moved it will hardly pay the debts, but if bought by Johnstown people it may wipe them out.

Gas was introduced recently in Johnstown, and this affected the electrical plant. Mr. Swartz is a former Columbus boy, son of the late Levi Swartz, a prosperous farmer south of the city. R. S. Swenton is the attorney.

COLDS and LAGRIPPE

Does Not Cause Ringing in the Head
OPAAC has proved an invaluable addition to the world's Pharmacopeia of Scientific medicines that CURE. Unlike the old fashioned Quinine with its offensive, nauseating after effects, OPAAC allays and soothes the fevered organs, effecting a speedy and lasting cure, and at the same time tones up the whole system. OPAAC is composed of the active curative principals of various roots and plants, and was not discovered by accident, but is the result of much studious scientific investigation. All dangerous ingredients are carefully eliminated, and only those used whose action upon the system have proved highly curative without producing bad after effects. OPAAC is warranted to break up—IN A FEW HOURS—any febrile symptom not neglected too long, and will cure chronic cases within a reasonable period. It reduces the fevered condition, heals the inflamed surfaces, restores natural secretions and induces healthy action of the organs of respiration. OPAAC is finding favor everywhere. Physicians are constantly prescribing and recommending it to their patients. Its marked popularity is based on RESULTS—PRACTICAL RESULTS. People try it, find relief and cure, and inform their friends; every day it becomes more widely known. With such a remedy obtainable, there is no excuse for allowing a cold to become chronic or dangerous in character. Buy a box of OPAAC and break it up at once. OPAAC is easy and pleasant to take; it is put up in the form of a small tablet and chocolate coated, rendering it acceptable to the most sensitive taste.

Elected Superintendent of Program—
Officers of Association Chosen by Acclamation.

Lancaster, O., Aug. 7.—The new board of trustees of the Lancaster camp meeting association met yesterday afternoon and elected Rev. T. W.
Creighton of Zanesville and Rev. Levi
C. Sparks of Newark superintendents of programs.

The selection of a third superintendent was deferred until the next meeting, but, according to the statement made by one of the most prominent members of the association, will in all probability be indefinitely deferred. It is also rumored that, in the following season, the responsibility involved in the management of program and meetings will be placed upon one man alone.

Although he was not ineligible to hold two positions, Rev. Mr. Creighton complied with custom and resigned from the board of trustees to begin his new duties as superintendent. Rev. P.
W. Drumm of Euclid avenue, Zanesville, was chosen to fill the vacancy.

The officers of the association were next elected, the following being chosen by acclamation: President, J.
S. Sites, Lancaster; vice president, C.
A. Monroe, Logan; secretary, Rev. J.
W. Mongey, Malta; treasurer, H. G.

HUNTER STILL IN JAIL

Licking County Man Waits Action of the Supreme Court

Accused of Perjury at Birmingham Former Resident of Homer is Also Wanted in Texas on Charge of Defrauding Fidelity Insurance Company.

(Special to the Advocate.)

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 7.—William A. Hunter, alias William A. Hunt, the former Licking county, Ohio, man who is charged with conspiracy to defraud
the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance company upon a $15,000 policy, issued upon his life, is still held in the Jefferson county jail in this city pending an appeal to the Supreme Court of Alabama.

Hunter was arrested in this city about two months ago on information furnished by a former inspector of the insurance company who recognized him as he was making his exit from a barber shop. At that time, and for several years prior thereto, he had been in Brookside a mining town near Birmingham, engaged in the business of selling sewing machines. He had won considerable notoriety in this section by reason of his prominence in the trial of one R. D. Coffman, a Brookside justice of the peace, and a former resident of Ohio, who had shot and killed Rev. J. W. Bradford, a Methodist preacher, in the parsonage at Brookside. Hunter swore upon the stand that the dead preacher had sent word by him for Coffman to come to the parsonage, and this bit of evidence was largely instrumental in clearing Coffman. A strong effort was made to impeach Hunter, but his evidence was accepted. It was out of his evidence in the Coffman case that the allegation of perjury arose.

During his arrest Hunter maintained absolute silence and thus far he has made no statement. Parties from Texas, where the fraud is alleged to have been committed, came to Birmingham and fully identified the accused man and requisition papers were issued for his removal to Texas to answer the charge. In the meantime his attorneys instituted habeas corpus proceedings, seeking to secure the discharge of the prisoner. The judge held that the accused should be delivered to the Texas authorities and thereupon his attorneys entered an appeal. It was the first time in the history of Alabama that an appeal had been taken in a case of the kind, and the right of appeal was questioned by the prosecution. The case then went to the higher court upon the question of appeal. Pending a decision Hunter was remanded to jail. The Supreme court is in recess now and it will be some weeks before a decision is handed down. Should the right of appeal be denied Hunter will be promptly turned over to the Texas authorities.
If it is held that an appeal lies such an appeal will be taken and there will be further delay pending a decision upon the main issue.

The allegation against Hunter is that he secured a life insurance policy for $15,000, and later disappeared, leaving enough of his personal belongings upon the bank of a Texas river to make it appear that he had lost his life in the stream. His administrators entered suit against the insurance company for the amount of the policy, interest and damages, and it is said to have cost the company over $25,000.

REVIEW OF THE CASE.

It will be interesting to recall the fact leading up to Hunter's arrest in Birmingham, which were detailed in the Advocate some weeks ago, in the only authorized statement given out by Mrs. Jennie Smythe, formerly Mrs.
Jennie Mettler, who lives on North Fourth street, this city, who was the beneficiary of the policies taken out by Hunter.

Late in October, 1896, William A.
Hunter, a resident of Reeves county, Texas, took out three policies of $5000
each, naming his widowed sister Mrs.
Jennie M. Mettler as beneficiary.

Hunter paid one premium, $98.85, on the policies, and in December, 1896, started ostensibly on a drive of 40 miles to the vicinity of where some-land in which he was interested, was situated.

After crossing the Pecos river, near serious injury on Thursday night. He was out riding, accompanied by a young lady and when near Granville in attempting to pass a farmer who was driving along the road, went into a ditch. The buggy was overturned and the occupants thrown out on to the ground. Mr. Tucker sustained a broken arm. He came to Newark, where the injured member was attended to by Dr. W. C. Rank.

SET THE HANDS

Of the Clock Ahead and Beat His Wife for Getting in Late.

Columbus, O. Aug. 7.—James McGan was sentenced to the workhouse for six months and fined $200 and costs in Police Court for assaulting his wife.

McGan set the hands of the clock ahead Saturday night, and because they pointed to the hour of 2 a. m.
when his wife returned he whipped her and in the melee broke her leg. It really was about 9 o'clock when Mrs.
McGan returned home.

The court scolded the prisoner, and announced that he was sorry he couldn't send him to the penitentiary for life.

sanity in a patient by operating along osteopathic lines.

Arthur Ault, aged 16, of Toronto, and large for his age, was injured in a football game two years ago. Later he became demented and physicians attributed the dementia to ligamentous injury. The boy was afflicted with irresistible tendency to sleep, and when awakened he would savagely attack any one who happened to be near him. The causes of irritation consisted of lesions in the neck and back. They were removed and the cerebral circulation improved.
The patient is pronounced well and cured.

REUNION HELD THURSDAY AT BLACK HAND.

Crowd Estimated at 5000—Program of the Day—Rain Interfered With the Event.

The eighteenth annual reunion of the Soldiers and Sailors of Licking County held at Black Hand on Thursday was, in the opinion of those present, the largest and best of the many successful reunions that have been held. The place, the beautiful grove at Black Hand, owned by Mr. David Wickham, is an ideal place for such a reunion. The day was all that could be desired, although the rain in the afternoon afforded something of an interruption, and the crowd was immense, estimated at 5,000.

J. P. M. Brill is president of the reunion association and Mr. D. T. Francis secretary. They, with Mr. William Cheek and Robert McFarland, constitute the reunion committee, and too much praise cannot be given them for the perfect success they made of the reunion on Thursday, as well as of previous reunions.

After an hour or so spent in pleasant greetings and handshaking by the old veterans and their friends, the vast assemblage was called to order by President Brill, and the regular order of exercises commenced. Following is the excellent program that was rendered:

PROGRAM.

Prayer—Rev. Wm. Hutchison, Black Hand.
Address—Rev. Thomas P. Shaffer, Richland, Mo.
Recitation—"Barbara Freitchie," Hazel Baker, Black Hand.
Address—Rev. O. T. Knapp, Zanesville.

Dinner.
Address—Dr. J. W. Alexander, Newark.

Address—Rev. Levi Mitchell, Newark.

Address—Rev. L. S. Boyce, Newark.
Address—Gen. R. B. Brown, Zanesville.

Address—Judge E. M. P. Brister, Newark.

Address—Hon. D. D. Taylor, Cambridge.

Address—B. F. McDonald, Newark.
The rain interrupted the program somewhat in the afternoon cutting short the address of Mr. McDonald, and cutting out the speeches of Judge W. A. Irvine and G. C. Daugherty, who were on the program.

Judge Brister, during his remarks, told of a Union war veteran, George Taylor, of Cincinnati, aged 73 years, whose wife was 76 years old. They had lived happily together for fifty-five years, when the infirmities of age compelled Taylor to go to Soldiers' home at Sandusky, and his aged wife was obliged to go to the City Infirmary. Judge Brister said that this was only one case of many and some action ought to be taken by the government to prevent such separations of husband and wife in the future. Judge Brister offered the following preamble and resolutions, which were seconded by Capt. James H. Smith and others, and on being put to vote by Chairman Brill, were unanimously adopted:

RESOLUTIONS.

Black Hand, Licking Co., O., August 6, 1903.
To the Senators and Representative from Ohio, in the National Congress, Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen:—At the annual reunion of the Soldiers of Licking county, O., held at Black Hand, Ohio, August 6, 1903, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, By the veteran union soldiers of Licking county, Ohio, in annual reunion assembled, at Black Hand, Ohio, that we respectfully and earnestly petition our senators and representatives in the United States Congress to take immediate steps to procure such legislation, on the part of Congress, as shall hereafter prevent the separation of Union Veterans, who enter Soldiers' Homes from their wives and small estate the wives of veterans to enter and remain at such Soldiers' Homes, with their husbands "Whom God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to each of the Ohio Senators and Representatives in Congress.

(Attest.) P. M. BRILL, President.

D. T. FRANCIS, Secretary.

Gen. Brown then said he wanted to make a second speech to heartily endorse the resolution introduced by Judge Brister. The speeches of Gen.

Brown and Hon. D. D. Taylor were splendid, eloquent and patriotic efforts, eliciting ringing cheers of applause.

The address of Rev. Mr. Shaffer, in the morning, who is quite a young man and a son of Samuel Shaffer of Black Hand, was a very fine effort, and all the addresses of the day were able and interesting and commanded the closest attention of the large audience.

An interesting feature of the day was the presence of a delegation of Union Veterans, in full uniform, from Wells Post and McCoy Post, G. A. R., of Columbus.

The splendid music for the occasion was furnished by the Glenford band, and was one of the greatest treats of the day. The members of the band were handsomely uniformed and discoursed first class music.

The reunion was an entire success in every particular, and a matter of hearty congratulation on the part of all.

KILTIES

Are Here For Two Day Engagement at Idlewild—See Them at the Park This Evening.

The piercing brazen sound of the British military bugle as compared with the soft smoothness of the American trumpet has often been remarked by visitors to Great Britain. The British Bugles were used by the four buglers who play at the head of the Kilties band when they marched around the public square this afternoon arrayed in the unique regimentals. These buglers alternated with the bagpipers in the band's street march, but the musicians do not play their band instruments, these being reserved, of course, for their concerts.

The Kilties are here for a two-day engagement at Idlewild park—this afternoon, tonight, tomorrow afternoon and night.

As the aggregation is one of the most celebrated on the road no doubt crowds of people will hear them. The Highlanders under the leadership of Wm. F. Robinson have elaborate programs for the two days. Their music is fine and there are other very interesting features. Tonight's program follows:

1. Overture—Rosamunde, Schubert.
2. Solo for Flute—Carnival de Naples, Foltz.
3. Songs of the North, Godfrey.
4. Bagpipe solo—Callier Herrin, Pipe Sergeant Ferguson.
5. Allegro and Quartette from Rigoletto, Verdi.
6. Part Song—Robin Adair, Parks.
7. Scotch Reel in Costume, Kilties' Reel Dancers.

INTERMISSION.

1. Scenes from Carmen, Bizet.
2. Tenor Solo—Sands o' Dee, Clay, J. Coates Lockhart.
3. Ballet Music from Sylvia, Delibes.
4. Dance—Sailor's Hornpipe, David Ferguson.
5. Idylle—Musician Astray in the Forest, Herman.
6. March—Tipperary, Fulton.
7. National anthem.

One thousand persons attended this afternoon's matinee.

MAN PUT ON BLACK LIST HAS BEEN SUIT.

Car Coupler Again—Don't Walk on the Tracks—Local and General—Railway News.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 7—Suit for $20,000 damages has been entered against the Louisville & Nashville railroad by Robert Polley, who claims to have been placed on the defendant company's "black list," and that the word "striker" was written opposite his name. He claims that this list was forwarded to other companies. As a result, he claims, he was prevented from securing a lucrative position with an accident insurance company and with express companies.

Safety Equipment.

Washington, Aug. 7—The interstate Commerce commission has ordered another temporary extension until Oct. 15, of the time within which a number of railroads must complete their safety equipment.

The commission will meantime consider the further extension of the law and the question of the location of grab irons on engines.

The roads granted the extension are the Pennsylvania, Erie, Santa Fe, Denver and Rio Grande, Colorado and Southern, Boston and Maine, Grand Rapids and Indiana, Chicago and Erie, New York, Susquehanna and Western, New Jersey and New York, Long Island, Norfolk & Western, and possibly the Lehigh Valley, the Hartwell railway company and the Potomac, Fredericksburg and Piedmont.

The Santa Fe wants the requirement of grab irons on fronts or sides of locomotives dispensed with.

The appeal of the other roads related to the equipment of 50 per cent of the cars in all trains with air brakes.

It was developed at the hearing that while the operation of the safety appliance act has done considerable to reduce the percentage of deaths from coupling accidents, there would be a much greater improvement if the railroads would all adopt a universal coupler. Many of the railroads have different coupling devices and while they will all work smoothly on one system couplers of different makes when brought together lose their automatic function.

The interstate Commerce commission has been endeavoring to bring the railroads to an agreement to use a universal coupler, but without success.

Keep Off the Track.

On account of the large number of people who use the tracks of the Par Handle railroad from Morris street to Cedar street in the East End, going to and from work, Detective W. H. Lawrence, stationed in this city, has been notified to arrest all persons caught on the tracks or right of way of the company.

CHICKEN

Cost a "V" but the Hunters Were Lucky to Escape at That Figure. A Hot Chase.

Three well known men of this city, started out for a squirrel hunt in the northern part of the county Friday. They started early in fact they were on the road before daylight. As they were driving along the road near Utica just as day was breaking they espied a fine pullet roosting on the fence. A German, who was in the party jumped out of the buggy and secured the fowl. The farmer, who had been awakened by the noise secured a revolver and fired it in the air, but this only made the hunters drive the faster, and they soon disappeared from view. The farmer, who was mad, hastily donned his clothes, and hitching up his fastest horse, started in pursuit of the men, being accompanied by his son. They drove several miles before they succeeded in overtaking men. The former who happened to be the constable of the township, was eager to arrest the men, but the matter was compromised by the hunters paying the farmer constable $5 for his trouble and the chicken. The German was loth to part with his hard earned dollars, and said that there was to be no more chicken lifting on the trip, as it cost too much money.

MALARIA

Germ Infected Air.

Malaria is not confined exclusively to the swamps and marshy regions of the country, but wherever there is bad air this insidious foe to health is found. Poisonous vapors and gases from sewers, and the musty air of damp cellars are laden with the germs of this miserable disease, which are breathed into the lungs and taken up by the blood and transmitted to every part of the body. Then you begin to feel out of sorts without ever suspecting the cause. No energy or appetite, dull headaches, sleepy and tired and completely fagged out from the slightest exertion, are some of the deplorable effects of this enfeebling malady. As the disease progresses and the blood becomes more deeply poisoned, boils and abscesses and dark or yellow spots appear upon the skin. When the poison is left to ferment and the microbes and germs to multiply in the blood, Liver and Kidney troubles and other serious complications often arise. As Malaria begins and develops in the blood, the treatment to be effective must begin there too. S. S. S. destroys the germs and poisons and purifies the polluted blood, and under its tonic effect the debilitated constitution rapidly recuperates and the system is soon clear of all signs of this depressing disease.

S. S. S. is a guaranteed purely vegetable remedy, mild, pleasant and harmless. Write us if you want medical advice or any special information about your case. This will cost you nothing.

SMILED

UPON PRETTY MT. VERNON, OHIO, MAIDEN.

Then She Lost Her Heart to the Man, Who Deserted His Wife For Her.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7.—Wm. R. Johns, superintendent of Trinity Episcopal church Sunday school, in Easton, Pa., has been arrested by Detectives Hight and Palmer at the request of Johns' wife, who tracked her husband from Pennsylvania. Simultaneously with the arrest of Superintendent Johns, Miss Rosa Howlett, aged 19, a good looking girl, whose home is in Mt. Vernon, O., was taken into custody. Johns met Miss Howlett last September, when the girl says he smiled upon her.

"That smile," she says, "wrecked my life and brought disgrace upon my family and his. I followed him to Dayton and from there here. We were infatuated with each other."

Mrs. Johns says it was not jealousy that made her have them arrested, but righteous indignation. Miss Howlett agreed with her and said she did not blame her for her actions. Johns is an expert machinist in the employ of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company, of Easton, receiving $35 or $40 a week. He superintended the erection of a large piece of machinery which was to be shipped to South Africa and arrangements were being made for him to go to that country when he was sent to Mt. Vernon on business. He says he knows he acted in a disgraceful manner, and that he will go back to Easton and live it down. The prisoners were released, both Mr. and Mrs. Johns shaking the hand of the unfortunate girl. Mrs. Johns said she would assist her financially as soon as she was able and advised her to go back home to her mother.

DABBLED IN STOCKS AND LIVED BEYOND HIS MEANS.

Dealt With Get Rich Quick Concerns and is Now Accused of a Big Shortage.

Canton, O., Aug. 7.—As telegraphed the Advocate yesterday, Teller Albert W. Deibel of the City National bank, here has been arrested on a charge of embezzlement. The discovery of a shortage of $22,000 led to the action.

The first proceeding in the court of a local justice of the peace charged the embezzlement of $1000 and was filed to detain the accused pending proceedings in federal court. The latter were begun late yesterday afternoon and a warrant was issued for Deibel under which he was taken to Warren for arraignment before United States Commissioner Gilmer today.

Deibel waived examination and was held under $25,000 bond which he is unable to furnish.

Deibel is said to have made a full confession of his peculations to the officers and directors of the bank about ten days ago when an error of $1000 was found in his account with the Pittsburgh correspondent of the bank.

This discovery it is said he interpreted as evidence that all his alleged stealings had been discovered and he confessed all begging for time to make up the shortage. Friends did not help him as he expected and his arrest followed.

Deibel had been with the bank since he was a boy and was held in high esteem. He is about 30 years of age and single.

A number of causes are assigned for the loss of the money the principal one being dealings with get rich quick concerns.

Nearly $3000, it is said, was lost through investments with a St. Louis commission company. Deibel did some trading also in stocks and oil. He was interested in several local prospecting companies.

It is claimed that Deibel also lived beyond his salary of $1200.

The officials of the bank declare that his shortage will not effect the concern, as it has a surplus and undivided profits of $50,000.

Several Weeks Ago Mrs. Scanlon Injured One of Her Hands—The Funeral Sunday.

Mrs. Honora Scanlon, a well known and highly respected woman of this city, died at the City Hospital Friday morning at 3:30 o'clock, after an illness of some days with blood poisoning. Several weeks ago the deceased injured one of her hands and blood poisoning set in, which rapidly permeated her entire system. Her condition became so bad that she was taken to the City Hospital on Monday night, where she received the best of treatment and care, but notwithstanding which she grew rapidly worse and died on Friday morning. The deceased was aged 51 years, and had been a resident of Newark for the past 12 years. The funeral will take place from the St. Francis de Sales church on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

MILLIONS

Lost by the Millionaires in the Wall Street Slump—Mr. Whitney Denies a Rumor.

New York, August 7.—The decline in Wall street has caused losses reaching many millions and today it developed from a trustworthy source that many millionaires' accounts have been so hard hit that they were forced to seek assistance. In their efforts to fortify themselves they have been compelled to dispose of their choicest dividend paying securities. The hurried return from Saratoga of W. C. Whitney whose interest in his racing stable is intense has provoked some stories which have brought a flat-footed denial by the financier. Wall street has heard that in order to protect his holdings Mr. Whitney at private sale had disposed of 2,000 shares of General Electric on advance to J. P. Morgan. Mr. Whitney says there is no truth in this report. He says he has sold no stocks.

conflagrations. At Baku alone the destruction has been colossal. Tens of millions of gallons of naptha have been burned.

In 24 of the largest towns the damage from fire during the past month is estimated at $35,000,000. The object of most of the fires is to get insurance money.

Many of the incendiaries are Jews and the insurance companies in some cases have raised premiums 50 per cent.

Public opinion in Odessa is entirely on the side of the striking sailors and strikers. A wealthy company which has been employing men for years has paid sailors starvation wages.

The Daily Mail's correspondent, under date of August 2 fully confirms the accounts of strikes in South Russia. The correspondent says that about 250,000 men are affected, and that simultaneously strikes were begun over a vast industrial area. He says that the amount of studied organization and well concealed preparations was unprecedented in the troubled annals of Russian labor.

Prices of the necessities of life are rising by leaps and bounds.

The Standard's Odessa correspondent under date of August 2, says that all the trades have now resumed work and that the strike is practically ended, but that the city will remain under martial law for at least another ten days.

The strikers did not secure all they demanded, but in most cases were met with fair spirited compromises on the part of the employers. According to the correspondent the local Odessa papers, on the day the dispatch was sent, announced that the governor had issued a statement to the effect that he had summarily convicted 71 persons, and had sentenced them to three months' imprisonment for disturbing the public peace. The names given include many Jews and a few foreigners. The strike ended just in time to avert serious food riots, as the high prices of provisions led to ominous popular threats to storm the bakeries and flour mills.

The Times prints a dispatch from Kieff, dated on August 1, which says that General Arznieff, governor of the District of Odessa, and the mayor of Odessa, together with a committee of influential citizens, have induced the tramway strikers to resume on the distinct understanding that their grievances will be considered and concessions granted.

General Arznieff received instructions July 30, from St. Petersburg enjoining him to refrain from active interference with the men provided they maintained order and obeyed the police. In the event the mob became recalcitrant he was directed to have the troops fire blank cartridges and then, if necessary, three rounds of ball cartridges.

The correspondent says the strikers made no serious attempt to resist the police, and that General Arznieff's actions are freely condemned as unwarrantably precipitate. He says: "This collision caused a feeling of pain and indignation over the ruthless methods of Russia's strong man, Van Peltve, to whose above mentioned instructions it was due."

Continental wagers, says Truth, have an international system, in the way they paste hotel labels on visitor's luggage, of showing what may be expected in the matter of tips.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and causes pain in passing it, or bad effects to spring use of beer, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1.00 sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that is more about it, both absolutely free by mail.

Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

ON EWEN'S VERACITY MADE BY THE DEFENSE.

Jett-White Trial is Nearing the End—Defense Has Rested—The Third Trial of Powers.

Cynthiana, Ky., Aug. 7.—Rebuttal testimony was offered in the Jett-White case today. Denny B. Goode, a newspaper correspondent testified that Captain Ewen told him the day after the shooting that he knew who killed Marcum. E. X. Bowling testified that he was with Marcum on the streets of Jackson for an hour on the Sunday before the assassination and warned him to take care of himself.

M. C. Bailey, the foreman of the grand jury which indicted the defendants at Jackson, said that Ewen's character is excellent.

Cynthiana, Ky., Aug. 7.—The defense has rested on its case, and the commonwealth has begun the introduction of rebuttal testimony.

The case against Jett and White for the murder of J. B. Marcum seems to be much stronger than on the preceding trial, and it is believed the jury has been tampered with.

The effort of the defense to establish an alibi was not so successful as was hoped owing to the fact that several of the witnesses contradicted not only themselves, but their fellow-witnesses. Much stress was laid upon the attack upon the veracity of B. J. Ewen, the star witness for the commonwealth, and the state in rebuttal expects to show the general unworthiness of the witnesses who tried to swear away his character.

THE POWERS CASE.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 7.—Because the jury selected from the special venire from Bourbon county is composed almost exclusively of Democrats the defense in the case of Caleb Powers has refused to accept it.

As negroes are not permitted to serve on juries in Kentucky, it is difficult to find available Republicans in so strong a Democratic county as Bourbon.

The defense moved to dismiss the entire venire of 109 men and made charges against the sheriff, saying he had not discharged his duties impartially. The motion was overruled.

The defense then exercised its right, and challenged one by one the jury chosen.
